

Fearful of Facebook??

For the first time ever free Facebook tutorial offered to BRAA

Members only!

For some time now, BRAA has maintained a page on Facebook. We know many of our members do not have Facebook pages of their own and, therefore, miss out on the many items featured there. We know some of you are just plain afraid of it! Sign up for Facebook tutorial and find out why it might be a good way to market your art and promote BRAA at the same time. Connect with other artists, find out about art events in the area, learn techniques through posted videos.

When: Feb.1, 1:30-3:30 p.m. or Feb. 28, 5:00-6:30 p.m.

Where: Blacksburg Library, community room

Taught by: Gerri Young, BRAA Facebook administrator

The library is equipped with WiFi so feel free to bring your own laptop or iPad so you can follow along and even set up a Facebook account during this class should you choose to do so. We will have Facebook projected on a large monitor so your own computer is not required, but we encourage those who have WiFi capability to bring it.

Find out how successful the BRAA page is, how to set up an account, how to get out of an account if you want to, how to make your page public or how to keep it private. Small student groups will make the tutorials user friendly.

- Sign up by emailing Gerri Young at younggerri@googlemail.com.
- Indicate your name, preferred class date and provide your
- telephone number. Depending on response, additional classes
- may be offered. You will be notified of your acceptance to the
- class or your placement on a wait list for future sessions.